A New Home for the New Year

WITH A PROPERTY TAX BENEFIT![+]

If you're considering buying a new home in Florida, now is a great time to explore your options!

Florida voters have approved the constitutional amendment "Save Our Homes from Excessive Property Taxes," bringing significant property tax savings for eligible Florida homeowners.

Beginning January 1, 2027, the homestead exemption for non-school property taxes will increase to $150,000 of assessed value, rising to $250,000 beginning January 1, 2028, with future adjustments for inflation starting in 2029.

The important date to know? December 31, 2026.

To qualify for the increased exemption beginning in 2027, homeowners must have established permanent Florida residency by December 31, 2026, and establish or maintain an eligible homestead on their property, subject to applicable requirements.

For those considering a move to Florida, purchasing a new home and establishing permanent residency before year-end could mean taking advantage of this significant tax benefit.
